Founder and President, "Love Foundation"

The Love Foundation Inc. is a non-profit organization whose mission is to inspire people to love unconditionally.

Our vision is to help people by building a practical foundation and understanding of unconditional love in individuals and society as a whole. Founded in 2000, we have become a leading international resource for sharing the awareness of unconditional love.

Because truth can be found in all aspects of life, The Love Foundation is designed to be an open organization built on the universal recognition of unconditional love.

As such, we are not affiliated with any religious belief or perspective. We focus on the personal appreciation and pragmatic experience of unconditional love.

Through education, research, and charity, we strive to share this timeless understanding and expand our individual and collective consciousness.

Choose unconditional love It can be easy to look around our world today and see the emergence of chaos, difficulty, and conflict. Yet, when we come from an open heart, we can also see our opportunity to love all things...

Daouda Mbouobouo Cameroon

Poet, SPAC

This non-profit association, founded in 2015 by writer-poet Daouda Mbouobouo, aims, among other things, to bring together poets and artists from Cameroon, French-speaking countries, and the Commonwealth of Nations in a spirit of openness and fraternity, to help and encourage them to hone their talents through volunteer work offered to members; to publish and disseminate the works of poets and artists in the society's international cultural journal, "ART et VERS," in which you may also participate, and in other publications approved by the society.

The Society of Poets and Artists of Cameroon (SPAC) will support, encourage, and reward poets and artists who have won national and regional poetry and arts awards. These awards will be named after honorary members and other distinguished poets and artists, to inspire and stimulate the spirit of creativity among young people.

To organize poetry writing workshops and art workshops, conferences, exhibitions, recitals, performances, festivals, and all events promoting poetry and the arts; To promote Cameroonian poetic and artistic expression in its various forms by developing the publication of poetic texts and the reproduction of artistic works in the magazine ART et VERS and booklets, and various publications open to members of the Society of Poets and Artists of Cameroon.

Ultimately, the creation of a poetry house in Fouban, Cameroon.

The association is open to all poets and artists regardless of nationality, ethnic origin, language, color, or religion, provided they are approved by the board of directors, which decides on applications for membership at each of its meetings.

DESPITE MY MANY FUNCTIONS AND ARTISTIC ACTIVITIES, I SERVE, AMONG OTHER THINGS, AS A MEMBER OF THE POZNAN CITY COUNCIL OF SENIORS. This is the result of elections and social trust, and the mandate of this Council of Elders will last until 2029. I still have many challenges ahead, but also a great desire to cooperate with peace ambassadors around the world, with the aim of uniting us in the defense of world peace, protecting the natural human environment, and supporting people in daily life through our joint actions, especially through the creativity of artists from different fields. I INVITE THE PRESIDENT, AS WELL AS THE ENTIRE GROUP OF PEACE AMBASSADORS GATHERED IN OUR GLOBAL ASSOCIATION, TO JOIN MY INITIATIVE UNDER THE NAME: GOLDEN ROUTE OF CITIES OF PEACE.

We are witnessing the horror of the current international situation in many people, as the world moves toward self-annihilation by threatening to use nuclear weapons. Today, we already have numerous wars and acts of violence against individuals and nations that want to live in PEACE. My initiative aims to put an end to activities that threaten the peaceful existence of people, regardless of their religion, skin color, or country of residence. Most of the initiatives I know of are exclusively political or religious in nature, including the Cities of Peace, which exist only with political accreditation from the United Nations. My initiative is to encourage the selected cities to participate on a permanent and regular basis, utilizing their social services, administration, and cultural centers to organize such events in their territories so that they are constantly relevant, current, and inspiring for all people of goodwill.

By surrounding the globe with the Golden Chain of Cities of Peace, we will create a barrier to any aggression, because I imagine that these cities, thanks to our ambassadors who are building such an itinerary, will cooperate with each other!!!

Glory to the people of kind hearts and great minds united around such initiatives for the good of humanity and it's PEACEFUL EXISTENCE.

With great respect.

I'm going to focus my independent foresight on the "less, but more" evolutionary model, which "helps us understand how sometimes the loss of genes opens new possibilities for subsequent gains and, therefore, losses are necessary to foster the evolutionary origin of new adaptations."

Will defeat bring peace closer?

The idea of losing to achieve peace appears several times throughout history, especially when we understand that peace doesn't always come with victory, but with the surrender of certain desires, pride, or power.

The paradox is this: Sometimes peace only comes when you accept losing something: pride, revenge, power, or the desire to be right.

Now... what if we take it personally? Perhaps the greatest act of peace in life isn't always winning, but knowing when to lose so as to stop fighting against you.

Religions are full of the idea of losing in order to achieve peace.

In fact, one could say that all the great spiritual traditions revolve around this renunciation as a path to something deeper.

What if peace weren't something to be conquered, but something we let in when we stop winning?

Why are we so afraid of losing...

If perhaps losing is the only thing that can save us?

What would we accept to lose in order to be at peace?

Peace and Sport International

SPORT AS A TOOL FOR PEACEBUILDING The universal values of peace through sport were in the spotlight in Monaco, attended by champions and senior governance officials from the world of sport.

The shared goal was to highlight sport's ability to transmit a culture of peace to younger generations in a tense geopolitical context.

All participants in the 14th edition of the Peace and Sport International Forum are encouraged to join the call and contribute to Peace and Sport's recommendations for international leaders.

Our goal is to ensure that sport is intentionally deployed as a tool for transmitting values for peace.

Your ideas and support will help shape the final recommendations to create impactful programs that use sport to build peaceful, inclusive, and equitable communities.

These recommendations will be shared with the Forum audience and on all Peace and Sport platforms on December 3, following the plenary sessions of the 2024 Forum.

Based on the following premise, participants will engage in constructive discussions around three main thematic sessions, which will inform the final joint recommendations.

IPS SWITZERLAND Geneva

The Institute for Planetary Synthesis is an NGO with consultative status with the United Nations Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC) and was founded in 1981 in Geneva.

It aims to awaken awareness of spiritual values in daily life and promote planetary consciousness, leading to planetary citizenship based on spiritual values: love of truth, personal responsibility, a sense of justice, constructive cooperation, and selfless service to the greater whole.

The Institute strives to promote the structure of the 10 seed groups, the 10 areas of service*, as a possible basis for future world culture and civilization. * The ten areas of service are:

education, politics, religion, science, psychology, economics (including finance), communication (including telepathy), enlightened observation, healing, and creativity.

By becoming a member of the IPS you join a global network of pioneers, people who are innovating in ten fundamental areas of activity, helping to prepare the future of global civilization;

You enhance your effectiveness through the support of a global organization of like-minded servants of humanity and the planet.

The only condition is that you seek to apply in all circumstances the five values by which you must live: love of truth, personal responsibility, a sense of justice, constructive cooperation, and selfless service to the greater whole.

Our sole purpose is to show you some of the ways we can work together and to give you the opportunity to tell us how you would like to get involved with the IPS.

Ziad Medoukh Palestine

Teacher

Thursday, July 13, 2023, was celebrated amidst the immense joy of the children, a brilliant ceremony unique for this type of activity in the Gaza Strip. Thanks to the organization of the "Les Quatre Fleurs" school, with the assistance and cooperation of French language graduates, the end of the French-language summer camp was celebrated under the slogan "Gaza la vie."

The ceremony took place in the presence of families, a few dignitaries, the entire staff, and, more importantly, the unconditional French-speaking supporters of the Palestinian cause via Zoom from France, Belgium, Switzerland, and Luxembourg, whom all of Palestine warmly thanks. As a preamble to this celebration, Abdallah Atab and Fatma Jarbou, two children from the camp, presented the program for the celebration in Arabic and French, followed by the singing of the Palestinian national anthem.

Then the school's director, Wafaa Houssari, gave a short speech praising the very positive results of this camp, which was attended by 40 children, supervised by French graduates from Gaza. She thanked the French association "Secours Populaire Français de Villepinte" and the French-speaking solidarity workers of goodwill for their support in organizing this magnificent camp.

Professor Ziad Medoukh emphasized that holding this camp is a formidable challenge against these aggressors, demonstrating that despite the blockade, the inhumane conditions, and the successive bombings imposed for over 16 years, the organization of this camp is a positive promise for the future of the children of Gaza.

He thanked all the individuals and associations in Gaza, as well as in France, for their encouragement and support for holding this unique camp in the Gaza Strip. While confirming that the smiles and joy of the camp's children were a powerful message of the capacity of the Palestinians of Gaza to resist the wave of violence from the Israeli occupier, not to mention their rapid learning of French in an atmosphere of play, leisure activities, and joy.

"Life on the Move"

La Vie en Marche General Meeting Friday, April 11, 2025 in KEMBS (Alsace) 8 PM

To members, donors, sponsors, regional delegates, partners, and friends. Children change the world, La Vie en Marche saves lives.

For every child with a disability, recognizing their rights is our top priority.

For 24 years, the association's structure has been based on a collective dynamic driven by universally recognized qualitative and quantitative results, with the added value of innovation that allows us to respond and find solutions to boost this process.

Our infrastructure rests on a keystone: the ALVM France-Senegal steering committees, which are the guarantors of our policy and values.

Without them, everything collapses.

Added to this are four pillars: members, sponsorships, donors, and partners.

We have realized that our partners have enabled us, and continue to enable us, to strengthen the effectiveness of our actions through concrete operational skills and capabilities, and to diversify our development objectives through co-construction and collaboration based on reciprocity.

Our determination is to look resolutely toward the future by being inventive, ambitious, courageous, and unifying.

Thank you for your support.

Dr. Chintamani Yogi Nepal / USA

Dr. Chintamani Yogi dreamed of creating a refuge, a place to integrate services and bring together all social organizations on a single platform, presenting a fantastic example of ecology and spirituality, bridging East and West, connecting nature and culture, and uniting spirituality and humanity. Shanti Sewa Ashram, translated into English as Peace Service Center, encourages selfless service to humanity through programs that strengthen the intention of peace, promote interfaith cooperation, non-violence, and spiritual and philosophical awareness.

The SSA was established in Koteshtwor, Kathmandu, in 2002. Originally purchased with generous donations from the Yogi family, the community center/ashram was originally a simple one-story apartment with a space for Satsanga.

Today, it serves as a three-story headquarters building and a regular meeting place for workshops, conferences, and various other regular programs for all segments of the community.

This development demonstrates genuine confidence in Dr. Yogi's abilities, who continues to guide the Community Center/Ashram in its vision.

SSAS's hope is that underprivileged children, women, and the elderly will benefit from holistic services, regardless of religion, caste, gender, sect, or nationality.

SSAS is a large, open house where one can seek service, prayer, enlightenment, and enjoyment.
